Collin the Lanternfish and the Light of Friendship

In appreciation to Dalle, you'll be a beautiful muse.
by C.P. Crayon

Near the sunny home of Cheerful Shores,

Lived a Lanternfish named Collin

Who was afraid of the dark... even its lore...

Where Beasts moved Shadows

and OH! such hungry sharks!

Yet he longed for friends,

and a chance to leave his mark.

But as the water got darker

And as the water grew darker, he knew it was time...

to make friends and face his fears with a rhyme...

But as the water got darker

he swam far and wide,
searching for a friend

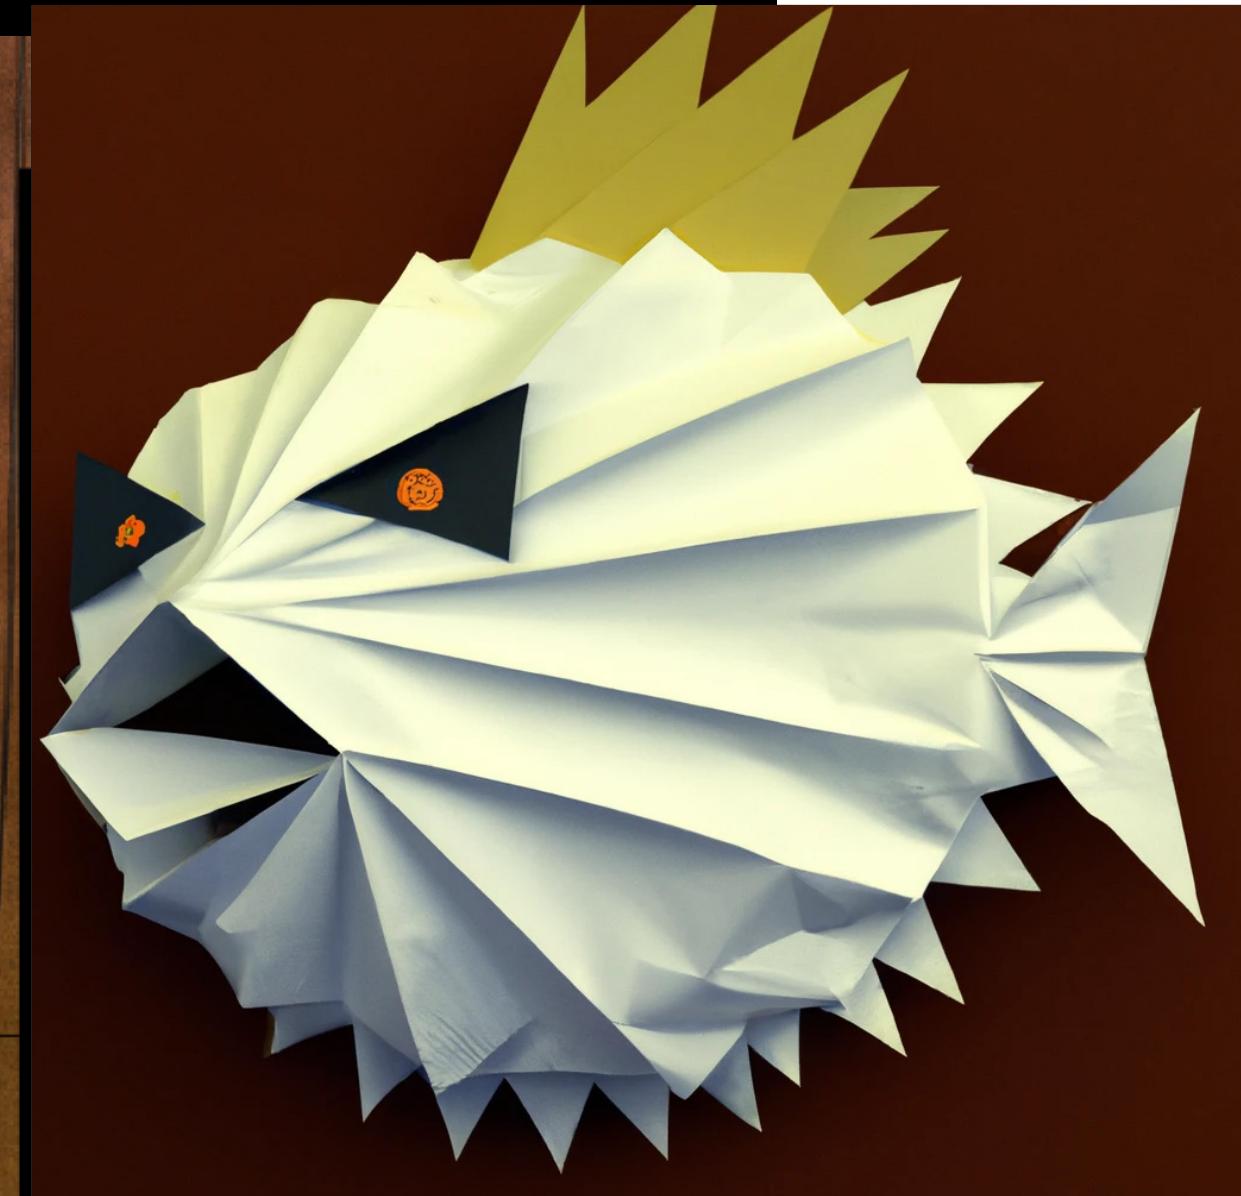

And a town to stand beside,
as this journey begins

But as the water
got darker

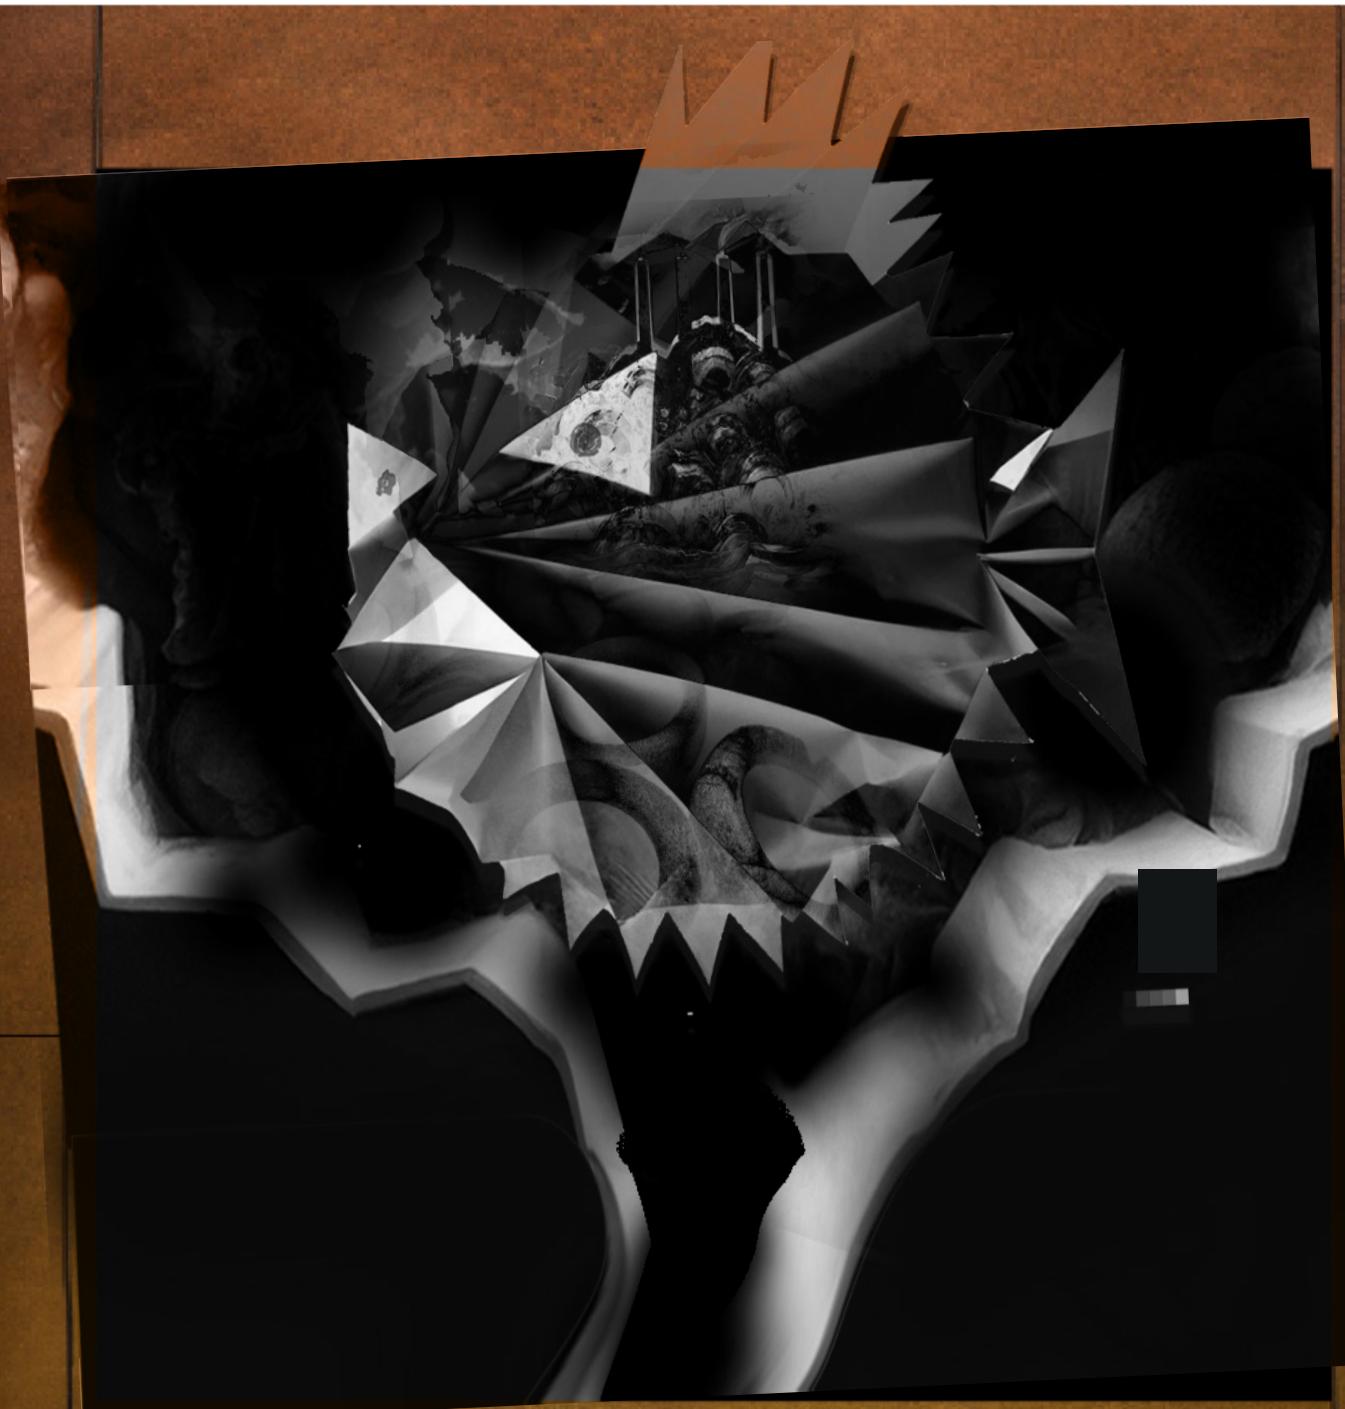

The Shadow Beasts...

AWOKE!!!!

And just like that, Collin fell into a shadow beast's choke!

When all seemed lost, in a magical twist...
Came a glowing lantern, like a luminous mist

This lantern started to tingle, and as it got very bright. ...

It exploded that BEAST back into the shadows of the NIGHT!!

Collin saved little Bert, a newfound friend so dear,

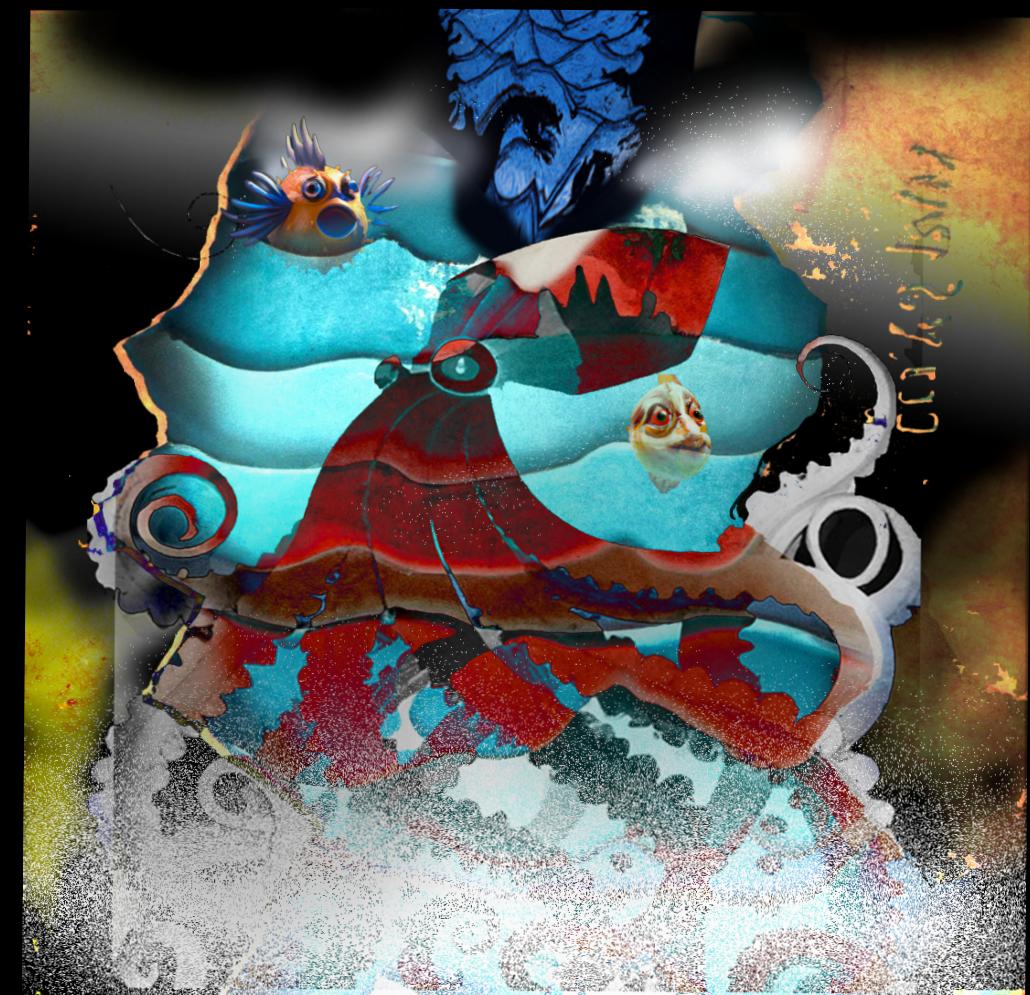

Hand in fin, they vowed to face darkness without fear.

The second beast emerged,
but they didn't flinch,

The lantern tingled and glowed, making the beast wince.

The lantern started to tingle, and as it
got very bright. ...

it lit that beast up, with the power of 1000 NIGHTLIGHTS

With the second beast gone, they saved
Bert's friends with glee,

United, they knew they could save their town and be free.

The lantern started to tingle, and as it
got very bright ...

The shadowy beasts vanished,
broken in parts.

Remember Collin and Bert,
and the mystical lantern that glows

For with friends by your side and courage as your guide, Together you'll conquer the dark, side by side.
